Dr. Ana Maria Lopez
Addressing Breast Cancer From a Public Health Lens

Dr. Ana Maria Lopez is professor of medicine and pathology at the University Of Arizona College Of Medicine. She serves as medical director of the Arizona Telemedicine Program and associate dean for outreach and multi-cultural affairs, College of Medicine.

Dr. Lopez received her medical education from Jefferson Medical College of Thomas Jefferson University in Philadelphia. She completed her residency in internal medicine and fellowships in general internal medicine and medical oncology at the University of Arizona. She also holds a master’s degree in public health from the University Of Arizona College Of Public Health.

Dr. Lopez is the principal investigator of several breast and ovarian cancer clinical trials focused on quality of life care and innovative treatments.

Ana Maria Lopez, MD, MPH, FACP

Date: Tuesday, February 12, 2013
12:00pm to 1:00pm

Location: Robert H. Lurie Center – Hughes Auditorium

303 E. Superior St., Chicago Campus

Reception to follow in Robert H. Lurie Center – Ryan Family Atrium

Sponsored by:
Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine